The document specifying the Customer Site Risk Analysis, for people and property, carried out with the Customer on the Product's environment shall be jointly signed before any servicing by Legrand.

The Customer undertakes to comply with the measures recommended in this document.

Legrand may refuse to provide the Services if it considers that the Facilities have not been installed or maintained in accordance with best practice, safety rules, for products or people, or current standards, and that this is likely to compromise the due provision of the Services.

Legrand may also refuse to provide the Services if it considers that the Products themselves have not been installed or maintained in accordance with best practice, safety rules, current standards or the specifications featured in its catalogues and manuals.

Legrand may refuse to service Products that have been modified without its prior permission.

9.3 Preparation, connection and powering-up of the Product

The Customer is an expert in the field of electrical installation (or is assisted by a specialist electrical installation company) and guarantees Legrand that it has followed the Product's installation recommendations specified in the technical documents.

After connection to the network, the Customer is solely liable for the powering-up of the Product and the consequences of any resulting incidents.

10.2 Legrand's obligations

Legrand undertakes to provide the Services according to best practice, using qualified staff. However, it is specifically agreed that Legrand's obligations regarding the provision of the Services are considered as obligations of due care.

Legrand shall provide services exclusively under the terms and according to the procedures specified in the Special Terms of Service, on Legrand Group-branded Products.

Legrand reserves the right to suspend the Services at any time if it appears in the course of the provision of the Services that the servicing conditions on the Customer's Site are likely to endanger the safety of Legrand, of its staff, representatives or sub-contractors.

The Customer remains liable at all times for its Facility, and accordingly for the accuracy, exhaustiveness and suitability to its needs of the documents and information provided by Legrand.

Legrand has no obligation to check, rework or modify the wiring or connection of the Products or of the Facilities.

11. FORCE MAJEURE

Legrand shall not be deemed to be in default of its contractual obligations if such defaults are due to the occurrence of a case of Force Majeure.

Force Majeure covers all unforeseeable and irresistible events of any nature whatsoever that are outside Legrand's control, such as natural disasters, bad weather, fire, strikes, sabotage, embargo, interruptions, delays in transport services or methods of communication, events or acts originating from civil or military public authorities (including all delays in securing any authorizations or permits of any kind whatsoever), declared or undeclared war, which have the effect of rendering the Order temporarily or permanently impossible to carry out.

12. DELIVERED PRODUCT WARRANTY

The Seller guarantees to the Buyer that the new Products supplied pursuant to the Order shall be delivered with no material, design or manufacturing defect.

This warranty shall take effect from the date of manufacture of the Products or at the latest, from the date of delivery of the Products, for a period of twenty-four (24) months. If it transpires during the warranty period that any part of the Product is defective under this warranty and to the extent that the Buyer gives prompt notice thereof within a reasonable time which in all events shall not exceed five working days from the Buyer becoming aware of the defect, the Seller shall correct the said defect at its sole discretion either by repairing the defective part or parts, or by delivering a repaired or replacement component in accordance with Incoterm EXW as defined in the ICC INCOTERMS.

This warranty shall also apply to any part of the Products or spare parts repaired or replaced under this warranty, for the remaining warranty period.

This warranty does not apply to consumables or to non-reusable components or to defects originating from or connected with failings of the Buyer regarding the use, installation or maintenance of the Products according to the Specifications and all related documentation and more generally according to accepted standards of use of the Products. This warranty shall also not apply to defects arising from or connected to (i) the combining of the Product with a product not designed or manufactured by the Seller, or (ii) a modification of the Product carried out by third parties other than the Seller, or (iii) an accident involving the Product that is not due to the Seller, and (iv) normal wear and tear.

The warranty defined in this article is exclusive and in lieu of any other warranty; the Buyer hereby expressly waives all other express or implicit warranty relating to any defect or failure of the Product.

13. IMPACT OF SERVICES ON THE WARRANTY

On no account may the provision of the Services by Legrand entail the extension in any way of the warranties for the Product for which the Services are provided.

14. INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

All the intellectual property rights relating to the Products, to the documents submitted by Legrand and to the Services provided by Legrand remain its exclusive property. Accordingly, Legrand shall remain the exclusive owner of the studies, plans, diagrams and all documents submitted to the Customer or with which the Customer has been able to acquaint itself in connection with the Agreement or a sales proposal.

Legrand grants the Customer the right to use the documents submitted for its own needs to operate and maintain the Facilities, at its own risk.

The Customer acknowledges that these documents are confidential and must not be disclosed to third parties in any way, without prior, written permission from Legrand and must be returned to it without delay if the Agreement is terminated, or not entered or upon any request on its part.

The purchasing of Products by the Buyer in no way confers any right whatsoever upon the latter to reproduce all or part of the Products or to exploit any intellectual property rights relating to them. In the event a third party were to bring an action for infringement of its intellectual property rights relating to the Products delivered to the Buyer, the Seller shall either defend or settle the claim as it shall choose and at its expense. Were a final unfavorable judgement to be made against the Seller, the latter shall choose either (i) to obtain a license over the third-party rights referred to above, or (ii) to modify the Products at issue so as to avoid the infringement, or (iii) if such a solution is not possible for economic and/or technical reasons, to take back the Products delivered and refund their purchase price, less a reasonable amount in consideration of the ageing and normal wear and tear of the Product.

The above undertaking shall apply only inasmuch as the Buyer shall have informed the Seller immediately in writing of any claim for infringement involving Products delivered by the Seller and so long as the latter shall have complete control as regards management of the action and proceedings.

The Seller's liability is expressly excluded if the alleged infringement is the result of the combination or association of the Products delivered with any other product or of any modification of all or part of the Product resulting from any procedure carried out thereon by persons other than the Seller.

Furthermore, the Seller shall not be liable for any cost or expenditure incurred without its authorization by the Buyer, or for any direct or indirect losses that might arise from any loss of use whatsoever of the Products delivered. The above provisions form the whole of the Seller's commitments regarding the Buyer in the event of any dispute arising over third-party intellectual property rights relating to the Products delivered by the Seller.
